2024

Digital Futures is a competitive programme open to all post primary schools in Northern Ireland. The winning team and their teacher will spend 5 days in New York City (expenses paid), sightseeing and visiting some of the world's best known tech companies.

Conditions of Entry

To support the programme, Sentinus will establish a link between your school and an advisor from a local company in the IT sector.

Entry to the competition requires your school to commit to the following:

- Host initial workshop for a class or club (Year 9) delivered by Sentinus to introduce students to programme and brainstorm ideas;
- Maintain contact with an advisor from a local company throughout the programme;
- Support young people in the development of their concept for a digital product as part of class activity or as part of a computer club;
- Attend a semi-final event on Thursday 13th June 2024 to pitch your idea
- Finalists must commit to attend a full day event in September 2024;
- Winning team and accompanying teacher, must commit to travel to New York City (expenses paid) for five days in February 2025.
